Listed below are the types of employment students can consider based on their program of study or types of employment students have entered after graduation.

Though some alumni/ae have been hired for specific positions after graduation, not every program is designed to prepare students for all of these types of employment. Prospective and current students should carefully consider their vocational direction and program objectives in the selection of their course of study. We encourage prospective students to consult with their admission counselor and current students should consult with their faculty advisor as they consider vocation.
